For the best water you'll never have to worry about.

Call The Experts at Aquality Solutions.

Arsenic is very difficult to detect without testing. It has no visible color taste or odor in water and can be there because of natural groundwater contamination. So how do you know if your drinking or well water is contaminated? Call the knowledgeable experts at Aquality Solutions. They will conduct a comprehensive test and recommend just the right solution to provide you and your family safe, great tasting drinking water.

NEW ARSENIC DRINKING WATER STANDARD MAY STILL BE TOXIC

A recent study by Dartmouth Medical School has concluded that arsenic could be toxic at much lower levels than previously thought, suggesting the EPA standard might still be too high. (see the complete report at www.4water1.com/dartmouth)

A very good reason to have your drinking water and well water tested for contaminants by the experts at Aquality Solutions.
